Barrier ▸ Fill ▸ Lead ▸ Reshape

• Barrier

Recombinant human collagen and hyaluronic acid form a mesh structure on the mucosal surface to lock in water and moisturize.

• Fill

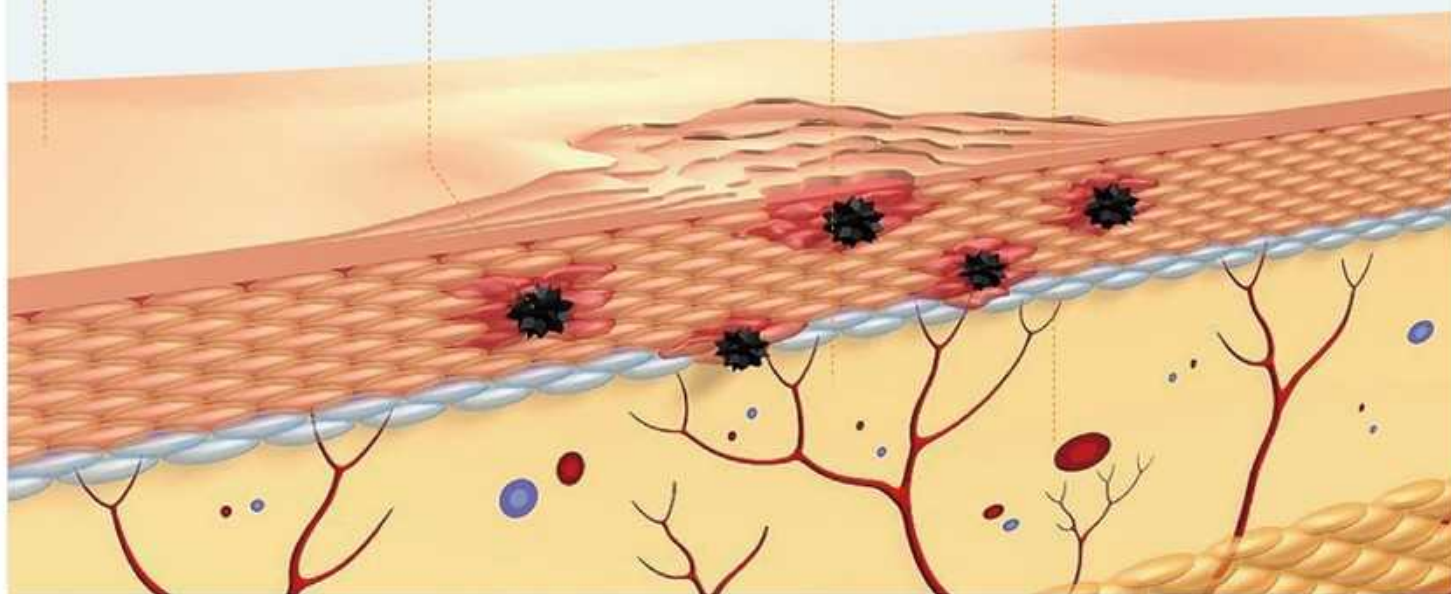

When the skin breaks down or atrophies, the cellular gaps in the stratum corneum increase and collagen is able to penetrate the stratum corneum.

• Lead

Replenish the defective Chuan collagen in the dermis to repair the damage while promoting the division and proliferation of fibroblasts after they migrate to the damaged area.

• Reshape

The internal and external synergies of the components work perfectly to bring out the function of active collagen and achieve collagen remodeling.
